Economics in the 6th Form

What does studying Economics offer at 6th Form?

To help you understand the world; you may see lots of stories in the news but not really fully understand what they mean for us and the UK economy, studying Economics will change this!

To help with other subjects; Economics is great teamed with subjects such as Politics, Maths and Physics due to the logical thinking that is required.

Set yourself apart from competition; university places, apprenticeships and jobs are all competitive. By studying Economics you're opting for a different subject that isn't on offer everywhere

Most importantly, what skills does Economics bring?

Problem solving

Communication

Numeracy

Commercial awareness

Analysis

Decision making

COURSE DELIVERY

2 teachers delivering different sides of the course over 9 hours
a fortnight

Group work, individual presentations, self and peer assessments, discussion!!

We recommend a grade 6 or above in Economics to access the A-Level specification comfortably or a Grade 7 in Business

It will be a big jump from GCSE as it is much more independent, and you will be required to complete independent learning outside of lessons (such as looking at business in the news or additional research). It will require hard work to ensure you're making a smooth transition to A-Level from GCSE.

ASSESSMENT: A-LEVEL

All units are assessed externally (examinations)

You will be assessed on your knowledge and understanding, application of your knowledge to a given situation, analysis and evaluation. There are also open ended questions that require students to write an extended piece of writing. Marks range from 4 to 20 mark questions

There are 3 exam papers at the end of Year 13, 2 hours each, worth 100 marks

Why choose Economics at Alleyne's?

1. We know you! This is extremely important as you have already studied with us at GCSE, we know your strengths and areas for improvement. We also know how you work best so can tailor your learning to you; ultimately you get a more personalised experience
2. Economics acts as a stepping stone for University, Apprenticeships and the world of work. It provides you with key skills such as independence, resilience, analytical and evaluation skills.
3. Economics links perfectly with other subjects such as Maths, Physics and Computer Science; combinations are based on option blocks but Economics fits with a wide range of other subjects!
4. You have the chance to experience Economics outside of the classroom (trips to careers fairs, conferences, NYC and listen to industry professionals)
5. We provide unlimited support throughout the 2 years students spend with us; something we pride ourselves on as we have small class sizes.
